Our 3 Components of Value

Leadership

Our best clients consistently state that they work with our firm because we give them the confidence that they are making smart decisions in their quest to preserve, build and transfer their family wealth. We consider good leadership not just showing you what we think, but pointing you in directions that are consistent with what we have learned about your desires and ambitions for yourselves and your family. In short we strive to excel in caring about you and advising you to do what we would do if we were in your same circumstances.

Creativity

Creativity is delivered to you through our commitment to perpetual learning and interacting with other top professionals throughout the financial industry. This takes place through our membership, leadership and participation in a number of prestigious associations that include: 1) Kestra Advisor Services, LLC, 2) Forum 400, 3) The premier association of financial service professionals, 4) The Million Dollar Round Table's Top of The Table, 5) The National Association of Financial Service Professionals, 6) Charles Schwab, and others. It is coming up with the right ideas for you at the right time.

Relationship

The soul or culture of our business is built upon getting to know our clients intimately and caring deeply about the progress we assist them in making with their lives. We accomplish this best through an engagement in The UltraVision System[®]. During this process we assist you in coordinating with various advisors as well as financial institutions, all of whom we help you hold accountable to achieving your desired objectives. In short you leverage our decades of good relationships and our commitment to developing new relationships to get more of what you want done in less time.
